

You are invited to the

Community Walk to End Intimate Partner Violence

This free event is more than just a walk, it's a powerful demonstration of our community's united stand against intimate partner violence (IPV).

Together, we are raising awareness, advocating for change, honouring survivors, and calling attention to the urgent need for action as IPV rates continue to rise. Participate by joining the walk, wearing purple, bringing signs, and using your voice to help break the silence.

Let's come together to support survivors and help build a safer, more informed Durham Region.
